JANITORS AND SERVANTS NEEDED AT A. & M.

The labor situation at A. & M. college continues to be serious because of the large number of laborers, men and women, who are in the cotton patch getting out the crop.

Because of the increase in dormitories it has been found necessary to increase the janitor force of the college, but negroes are not available for the work. An effort was made to get competent negro janitors in Houston, but it failed, and the present janitor force is doubling up on the work until the necessary men can be found.

The handling of the family washing each week is also a problem. Because of the lack of women who will do the work several of the ladies of the campus have had to go to the washtub during the past week, and while in several instances a woman could be employed to do the washing, "mildly" has had to do the ironing. Cooks are out of the question, and the lady of the house in many instances is cooking for the family also. But the wives of the officers and professors of the college are resourceful and they can do this work when it is necessary, and they are not too proud to do it.

NEW FEED INSPECTOR.

T. H. Wolters of Schulenberg, father of Hon. J. F. Wolters of Houston, has been appointed a deputy inspector in the feed control department at A. & M. college. The inspection of live-stock feeds is under the administration of the college. There are four deputy inspectors who visit all sections of the state and inspect the live-stock feeds manufactured and offered for sale. Each feed must be approved by the feed control department, and a chemical analysis of its constituent parts filed. The deputy inspectors inspect sacks of feed and in the event they find any which they do not think comes up to the chemical requirements report the matter to the office at A. & M. college.

Mr. Wolters is an old citizen of Fayette county and has been prominent in local affairs in that county.

HAS GONE TO MOBILE.

E. J. Kyle, dean of the department of agriculture and professor of horticulture of A. & M. college, has gone to Mobile, Ala., where he will address the National Nut Growers' Association today on the subject of "Top Working Hickory to Pecans." Prof. Kyle has done a great deal of this work and well posted on the subject. He will make a strong effort to bring the next meeting of the association to Texas. Prof. Kyle is secretary of the Texas State Horticultural Society.

REGISTRATION PASSES ELEVEN HUNDRED

The registration of A. & M. college for the present session has passed the 1100 mark. It is the high-water figure of the entire existence of the college and justifies the expectations of the college authorities in every respect. The increased student body has made necessary more teachers and more room.

Arrived from Illinois.

Mr. M. G. Sauerby has arrived from Illinois with his family, and this vicinity is to be their home in future. Mr. Sauerby was here several months ago and purchased the Judge W. J. Moor homestead near A. & M. college, and he will move out to same as soon as his household goods arrive. The Eagle is glad to welcome Mr. Sauerby and family to Brazos county.
